

Major News About Minor Objects

Selected links to asteroid, comet, and meteor news - January 2007

[report news - alt | RSS subscribe - link | about A/CC | space news links]

Updated: 16 February 2007

- Notes: 1) There are no links here that require purchase or registration.
2) Some of these links are also carried on A/CC's RSS news feed and may appear there first.
3) News release links are fairly stable but news-media links often aren't, so grab any pages now that you might need later.
4) Bold daily dates are UTC. Dates for news items, unless otherwise stated, are those declared by the sources.
5) This page can be viewed with keywords hidden (default) or visible (requires modern browser with JavaScript enabled).

[December 2006 News | News Archive | February 2007 News]

- "'Black' Diamonds May Come From Outer Space," National Geographic 22 Jan. - Quote: "The acid test [for the extraterrestrial origin argument] would be to identify a carbonado body in the Asteroid Belt."
- "Meteorite that hit home to be displayed," AP at Courier Post 24 Jan. - Quote: "Rutgers' geology museum in New Brunswick plans to hold a one-day display of the meteorite during its annual open house, scheduled for Saturday."
- "Understanding the Solar System's Earliest Days," Fordham Univ. 19 Jan. posted 24 Jan. - Quote: "Meteorites are to planetary scientists what fossils are to archeologists or ice cores are to climatologists."